Interview

- Dress smartly – you might not need a suit, but smart trousers/skirt and a shirt/blouse will show you're taking it seriously.
- Get there early – have their phone number handy so you can let them know just in case you're delayed.
- Good body language – don't slouch, yawn or fold your arms – stay calm and alert, sit up straight and make eye contact.
- Don't worry if you don't understand – ask them to repeat or rephrase the question, make a good guess, or relate it to something you know better.
- Expect the unexpected – they might do a surprise test to see how you react under pressure – just do your best.
- Ask them questions too – this shows enthusiasm and gives you chance to get answers you haven't found yet.

Interview

- Dress smartly – you might not need a suit, but smart trousers/skirt and a shirt/blouse will show you're taking it seriously.
- Get there early – have their phone number handy so you can let them know just in case you're delayed.
- Good body language – don't slouch, yawn or fold your arms – stay calm and alert, sit up straight and make eye contact.
- Don't worry if you don't understand – ask them to repeat or rephrase the question, make a good guess, or relate it to something you know better.
- Expect the unexpected – they might do a surprise test to see how you react under pressure – just do your best.
- Ask them questions too – this shows enthusiasm and gives you chance to get answers you haven't found yet.
